Michael Büenefeld leaves MENNEKES

Michael Büenefeld, Managing Director Sales & Marketing, is leaving MENNEKES. He is going of his own accord and in agreement with the Managing Partners of the MENNEKES company. After four years of successful engagement with MENNEKES he would like to take on a new challenge. From 1 June 2019, he will take up the position of "Managing Director International Sales" at OBO Bettermann. Thus, he returns to his first employer, where he worked from 1995 to 2001. The change from MENNEKES to OBO Bettermann was conjointly agreed by the two companies in advance.

MENNEKES Managing Partner Christopher Mennekes will manage the sales and marketing departments provisionally until a successor is found. He will also be the future contact partner for associations and advisory boards that Michael Büenefeld looked after in an honorary capacity. In addition, the familiar contact persons in sales and marketing are available to answer your queries.

Christopher Mennekes: "We would like to thank Michael Büenefeld for his successful work, his reliability and commitment. He made great contributions to internationalizing our industrial plugs and sockets unit. We regret his decision and wish him the very best for the future both in his personal and professional life".
